

A close-up, low-angle shot of a modern, multi-tiered glass chandelier. The chandelier features several tiers of clear, faceted glass rings that create a series of concentric, overlapping planes. Warm, golden light emanates from small, cylindrical light sources integrated into the structure, creating a soft glow and highlighting the intricate details of the glass. The background is a neutral, light gray, which emphasizes the chandelier's design.

NEVERENDING GLORY

by Jan Plecháč & Henry Wielgus

A New Spin on the Classics

The Neverending Glory collection pays homage to the iconic chandeliers of La Scala, Palais Garnier, the Metropolitan Opera, the Bolshoi Theater, and the Estates Theater. With a contemporary twist, each piece reinterprets classic forms by rotating the silhouette around its axis to seamlessly fit modern spaces.

Available as pendants, floor lamps, table lamps, and wall sconces, the collection's refined design transforms any space. Its versatile options allow for unique transformations, adding style and purpose to a variety of interiors.

CIPHER
by Yabu Pushelberg

Light Deciphered

This light isn't in your face. The precise hand cuts in the crystal cylinders shape the glow in unique ways, softening its overall effect. Hidden sources, traveling between connection points, provide an enigmatic allure.

Cipher's robust glass and precise cuts result in a sophisticated, almost cryptic aesthetic. Thanks to the collection's wide portfolio, Cipher offers limitless possibilities of arrangement in various spaces.

MILES

by Yabu Pushelberg

The Hidden Jam

By day, Miles stands introverted, its precious metal coating reflecting its surroundings and hiding what's inside. By night, its true character shines through, as warm light transforms it into a source of pulsing brilliance.

Miles draws inspiration from the parallel between playing brass musical instruments and glassblowing. Both require immense concentration and passion. The collection offers versatility across diverse spaces. Whether displayed individually or as part of a group, the whole band adds a unique vibe to any interior.

CONSTELLATION

by David Rockwell

Universal Stories

Constellation transforms interiors into starry realms, inspired by the iconic night sky mural of New York City's Grand Central Terminal. Each piece represents a celestial formation: the ceiling lamp embodies Cassiopeia's grace, the wall sconce mirrors Orion's Belt, and the floor lamp radiates the brilliance of Polaris.

Available in Champagne and Black Stardust finishes, the metal-coated glass lenses cast enchanting glows, whether illuminated or not. Constellation adds cosmic elegance to any room while adapting seamlessly to lower ceilings and grand interiors alike.

SPACEY

by Lukáš Novák

The Universe Within

The Spacey collection captures the awe-inspiring beauty of the cosmos with its exquisite glass spheres. Crafted using the ancient lithyalin technique, these marble-like surfaces feature cosmic markings in vibrant natural shades, evoking the timeless allure of planetary bodies. The distinct finish adds a refined sheen, making each piece a captivating focal point whether lit or unlit.

Each piece is both a functional lighting object and a decorative centerpiece, making it a perfect addition to residential and hospitality interiors.

NEBULA

by Claesson
Koivisto Rune

Where Stars Are Born

Inspired by 1960s sci-fi movies, Nebula brings futuristic elegance into contemporary design. Its organic bulb-shaped form encases a diffusing glass lens that directs light upward to a polished, metalized reflector, creating a radiant gradient effect. Even unlit, its sleek glass and metal finishes make it a sculptural masterpiece.

Designed in collaboration with Claesson Koivisto Rune, this collection embodies the synergy between Swedish design and Lasvit's glassmaking artistry. With table lamps and ceiling sconces in three distinct finishes, Nebula adapts to diverse interiors. Whether a bold solo statement or a celestial cluster, it transforms spaces with its otherworldly beauty.

YAKISUGI

by Kengo Kuma

Fire's Gentle Touch

Yakisugi celebrates the ancient Japanese craft of charring wood for preservation, creating harmony between destruction and creation. The result is a luminous sculpture that feels as if it were shaped by nature's own hand. The Japanese architect Kengo Kuma brings Yakisugi to life, seamlessly merging traditional aesthetics with modern design.

Through a distinctive process, molten glass is poured into wooden molds, capturing the intricate texture of charred wood as it burns away. Yakisugi evokes a quiet elegance—the lighted objects become a gentle reminder of resilience and renewal.

CIRCLE

by Milena Kling

The Art of Lightness

Circle redefines the relationship between glass and liquid. Hand-blown by master artisans, its ultra-thin walls feel as if they barely exist, creating a near-weightless drinking experience. Each piece is formed using pleated copper sheets, allowing molten glass to take on free-flowing circular patterns.

Circle transforms the simple act of drinking into a moment of heightened awareness. The nearly transparent vessel creates the illusion of holding water in your hands, untouched by glass. Enjoy with care.

OTTO

by Yabu Pushelberg

The Geometry of Light

The Otto collection distills homeware to its purest form, where precisely cut engravings bring rhythm to crystal-clear silhouettes. Defined by clean lines and refined proportions, each piece reflects light with quiet sophistication.

Designed by Yabu Pushelberg, Otto balances classic elegance with contemporary restraint. Its delicate engravings create a sense of movement, turning the everyday act of drinking into a refined ritual.

WRITER SET

by Lars Kemper
& Peter Olah

A Story in Every Sip

Like Hemingway's prose—precise, unembellished, and deeply evocative—the Writer Set distills design to its purest form. Mirroring the concise and unadorned style of Hemingway's writing, this set eschews elaborate ornamentation for a minimalist yet profound aesthetic.

The design invites contemplation, featuring a distinctive sloping silhouette and an original slanted cut at the glass edge, challenging the drinker's perception and evoking the question of what is real, much like in Hemingway's stories.
